approved without demur, the report of the working party on the sugharbour scheme and in consequence has decided to "examine forthwith possible arrangements for the provision of a second cross-harbour vehi cular service." It is a decision likely to meet with fairly general approval insofar that it protects the from additional taxation impositions which undoubtedly would have been necessary to meet the heavy cost of a tunnel.

There is, however, a deeper meaning to yesterday's official statement on the subject. Government has not only refused to associate itself with either a tunnel or bridge, but is apparently unwilling to lend approval to private enterprise undertaking any such projects.

The sponsors of the plan for a harbour bridge can derive no encouragement from Government's statement, for in addition to emphasising that the considerations regarding the construction of a tunnel apply to a bridge, Government refers to additional practical problems and in effect has already accepted the objection that a bridge would have an adverse effect on harbour facilitles.

is clear that private interests must in any event reconcile themselves to the fact that there is no prospect of official approval bridge for many years to come. Government's decision to go ahead with arrangements for the establishment of an additional vehicular ferry service precludes it This decision not only safeguards fulfilment of franchise obligations by existing franchise holders, but ampliand franchise.

Government has carefully avoided any direct reference to long-term policy regarding cross-harbour transportation and communication facilities, but the inference is that it considers vehicular ferry services will be sufficient to meet requirements for the foreseeable future. Government may be right, yet many will feel that an approved scheme for a bridge, to be built and financed by private capital, years from now, would rate of administrative centrol from as a more enlightened long- the satellites. development than extension of the existing ferry service.

There will be ready agreement with the principle that the existing franchise holders should not suffer financially by the construction of a bridge or tunnel, devise effectual ways and means of preventing any such financial distress and it also leans rather too heavily on ... the plea that present franchise holders should not be inhibited from engaging in further appropriate development.

BOSS GETS 10 YEARS

Moscow, July 10. The Soviet crime king "Gipsy solf-styled Baron". Vladimir Szarkosi. has been sentenced by a Sverdlovsk court to 10 years imprisonment and "afterwards to five years of exile in distant regions of the country," the newspaper Gudok reported

The 38 year old "Gipsy Baron", who was arrested last May at Moscow's airport, was said to have organised roving bands of thleves throughout the Soviet Union. Szarkoki himself spent most of his time at spas in the Caucasus or at plush Crimean seaside resorts.

The total loot of the Baron's gangs was culmated at 18,000,000 roubles (about $4,000,000), ---France-Presse.

Premier Guy Mollet mental explosions of nuclear will demand a formal the amount or common muchanism) pledge from the National Assembly to ratify Atomic Luropean operation (Euratom) treaty and has let it be known will resign if the guarantee is not forthcoming, informed sources said today.

> The Socialist Premier will ask for the assurance when the haust, Chamber of Deputies concludes a preliminary debate on the sixnation project tomorrow. He is expected to win the pledge by a tarrow margin.

The Chamber resumed debate today after a four-day adjournment for lack of a quotum. It will stay in session throughout the day.

HAS FEARS

The vote tomorrow will not be on the Euratom treaty itself. The Pact is now being drafted by France, Italy, West Cermany, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg. The six nations already are grouped in the Coal-Steel Community.

But M. Mollet, a fervent advocate of European supranational co-operation, fears the French Parliament might do to Euratom what it gid to the European Defence Community (EDC) treaty. After approving "in principle", several times, the Chamber rejected the treaty itself in August 1954.

M. Mollet told his aides he would serve notice that if Parliament approved the idea of Euratom tomorrow it would be Vice-President of India, arrived later this year. He expects to base submit; the treaty for ratifica-

No Cancer Found NUCLEAR After 'Smoking Tests'

London, July 10. Experiments in which rats and hamsters were injected and painted with crude tars condensed from cigarette smoke have produced no signs of cancer yet, the British Empire Cancer Campaign said today in a report which dealt with research on tobacco smoking and air pollution.

At one centre, elgarette smoke ter and resin were injected into the lungs of mice.

The few tumours that developed were regarded as spontaneous and in no way due to the effect of the injected material," the report said.

Atmospheric conditions, and particularly fog, greatly influence the radioactive content of the inhaled air, the report said,

What a delightful change to meet a nice big hearty girl who makes a nice clean living thrashing about in the water.

In these—or almost these—words I welcomed Miss Esther Williams, the swimming film star, to England's shores.

And as she came romping into the huge drawing room of Sir Oswald Birley's home at St John's Wood (rented for her stay in England), I couldn't help thinking that with a hockey stick in one of those sinewy brown hands, she'd make an admirable captain for the All-American Mom's Team.

60 leading churchmen of the Central Committee will preach in different parishes of the Budapest and Debrecen districts in big city churches and small country ones. Hungarian churchmen who visited Geneva recently told World Council officials that interest in the meeting was being shown by the more than 2,000 Protestant parishes in the country. Study groups were formed and a special ecumenical day was planned for local parishes of the Hungarian Reformed, Lutheran, Methodist and Baptist churches on July 1. Bishop Lajos Vetoe, of the Hungarian Lutheran church, is a member of the Central Committee. Bishop Janes Peter and Bishop Albert Bereesky, both of the Reformed church, have a leading part in taken organising the conference.

Active

Other East European churchmen who have been active in the World Council are Bishop Jan Chabada, of the Czechoslovak Lutheran church and Professor J. L. Hromadka, of the Czechoslovak Presbyterian church. Both are Central Committee members.

It is expected that the Conlerence meeting will attract churchmen from other East European countries as observers, probably from Rumania and Poland and possibly from Russia.

Committee in Davos, Central Switzerland, sent a letter to the Moscow Patriarchate of the Russian Orthodox Church calling for "full and free relationships" with that body. Copies of the letter were sent to Baptist, Lutheron, and Roformed churches in the Soviet Union.

Since then, there have been numerous personal contacts between churchmen from Dust and West who have visited each others' countries. Although no invitation has been, issued, it has been made clear: to Russian churchmen that they would be welcomed Galyatetoe.

It is expected that the churches of China will renow contact with the World Council through the Anglican - Bishop K. H. Ting, who is visiting Europe. The Chinese churches, remaining affiliated to the World Council, have had no formal contact with it sinco 1948.—China Mail Special.

The Australian Federal Government has given another body blow to importers of fully assembled motor vehicles by a cut of 50 percent and unassembled chassis by 30 percent, under its latest import restrictions.

Acting Prime Minister, Sir Arthur Fadden, announced the cuts which amount to £40 million

Goods affected by the new cuts include Scotch whisky, 25 percent, imported cigarettes 50 percent, barbed wire 80 percent, certain types of floor coverings 25 percent, and fish i sports 25 percent.

Several hundred items have Lionel Whitby, Reglus Professor been cut by at least five percent of Physics, and Master of 10 75 percent. These include Downing College, Cambridge wall and floor tiles, fountain pens, cameras, motor cycles and accessories, precious stones, hand tools, washing machines, refri-

SEQUEL TO RAPE CONVICTION

Court Orders Re-Trial

Expressing some concern over the procedure at the previous trial, the Full Court of Appeal this morning ordered a re-trial for a 30-year-old earth coolie, So Shing-fong who was convicted and sentenced to five years and 12 strokes for raping a young girl.

So had lodged an appeal against conviction, but when he appeared before the Chief Justice, Mr Justice M. J. Hogan, and Mr Justice J. Reynolds yesterday, he said he only wanted a lighter sen-

The Court said that the proceedings at the trial before Mr Justice C. W. Reece Inst month caused them some anxiety and that owing to a breakdown of the wire recorder there was no complete summingup before them to see whether the accused had a fair trial.

They adjourned the appeal to this morning for the appellant to decide what course he wished to take. Asked whether he wished to go on with the appeal against conviction, the appellant replied this morning that he left it in the hands of the Court as he ment of umbrellas, gloves, was illiterate. The Chief Justice said that in those circumstances the Court did not think it should treat the appeal as withdrawn, and there was no alternative but to order a new trial. Crown Counsel, Mr Morley-John agreed

The Chief Justice remarked that in the course of the trial the appellant was endeavouring to put questions to the principal One could understand the difficulty of getting him to appreclate that what he was required to do at that stage was to cross-examine rather than tell a story. But it appeared that he was not allowed to put certain questions which appeared to be perfectly legitimate and there were certain remarks by the trial Judge which the Court thought were unfortunate and which might have had an effect on the Jury.

In view of the absence of complete record of the summingup the Court should order a
